ADAMS COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

Adams County's genealogical importance is due to the fact that many people passed through on their way west. Unfortunately a courthouse fire in 1910 destroyed almost all probate and common pleas records essential to research. The Adams County Society was formed in 1978 to collect, preserve and make accessible all remaining data that could be found. Our society has compiled Bible, cemetery, marriage, newspaper and census records, which, when added to files of research done by members on various families, comprise our resources. In addition, many books have been added to the library.
